Vitamin Well Boost, PET

Functional still soft drink with fruity berry flavour, developed especially to support the immune system. It contains vitamins such as C and E as well as minerals such as zinc, selenium and manganese, which can support cell protection and the body's defences. It also contains plant extracts from berries and tea, which have an antioxidant effect. The drink is low in calories but contains sugar, and is free of carbonation and preservatives. It is particularly suitable for daily life, the office or light sporting activity as a refreshing alternative to classic soft drinks.
